Fee and policy changes from 5 July 2021

Rutledge Family Medical Centre has absorbed increased costs of operation and inadequate Medicare funding for many years. However, we are no longer able to do this while maintaining a quality clinic and providing our patients with the services you want. As a result, we need to implement changes to our fee policy. The changes commence on Monday, 5 July 2021.

Consultation type appointments:

- Practice fees for most doctors[#] will increase by $3 - $5 per consultation depending on the type of consultation. Please note, regardless of the type or length of consultation, your out of pocket $will be $50.25 for most doctors.
- Existing concession card holders will continue to be bulk billed by most doctors[#].
- New patients to the clinic who hold a Commonwealth Concession card will be charged a Concession Fee. For most doctors[#], regardless of the type or length of consultation your out of pocket cost will be $30.25 for most doctors.
- Bulk billing will not be available for any appointments booked for after 6pm on weekdays or at anytime on weekends and public holidays.
- Existing patients without a Commonwealth Concession card will not be bulk billed

Treatments and tests provided by our nurses:

- These are not bulk billed. All patients, existing and new, will be required to pay a fee for these services. Please see the back page for details.

Procedures:

- These are not bulk billed. All patients, existing and new, will be required to pay a fee for these services. Please see the back page for details.

Please note:

- [#] Fees for all doctors for most common items are detailed on the following pages.
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Island patients and DVA patients will continue to be bulk billed for all services at all times.
- All flu, Covid and childhood immunisations will continue to be bulk billed
- A cancellation fee of $44 (incl GST) may be applied for non-attendance or where less than 4 hours' notice of cancellation is provided.
